

Custom engagement rings are one of dimend SCAASI's strongest specialties. The custom design process at the store has produced thousands of unique rings for Chicago couples over nearly thirty years. Here is how the process works. It begins with a consultation. You bring whatever you have: photos from Instagram or Pinterest, a description of your partner's style, a sketch, or simply a general sense of what you are looking for. The team at dimend SCAASI translates whatever you bring into a design conversation that refines your vision into something actionable. Diamond selection happens in parallel with design discussion. Knowing the setting design helps narrow the appropriate diamond shapes and sizes. The team presents certified diamond options within your budget that suit the setting direction you are pursuing.

Computer-aided design tools allow the team to render your ring in three dimensions before any metal is cast. You can visualize the finished piece and request modifications before production begins. This step eliminates the anxiety of committing to a design you cannot fully picture. Production uses modern manufacturing technology alongside traditional goldsmith craftsmanship. The combination produces rings that are both precisely made and individually finished. Typical turnaround for custom rings runs a few weeks, though dimend SCAASI offers a 10-day delivery option for <https://ameblo.jp/jaredfhv265/entry-12966394461.html> standard engagement ring styles. Every custom ring comes with a lifetime warranty covering defects in materials and workmanship. The 30-day return policy extends to custom pieces that do not meet your expectations. The result is a ring that belongs to nobody else. For the majority of dimend SCAASI clients who choose custom, this individuality is the most valued aspect of the process.
